Mia joined Thrivent in 2016. Prior to her current role, she utilized her degrees in Exercise Science and Kinesiology to help athletes and the general population achieve health, fitness and athletic goals at Mayo Clinic and the University of Minnesota.

Mia's transition to this industry was prompted by her own personal experience. She is dedicated to helping clients find clarity in their situations through education and ongoing guidance. She strives to empower clients to work toward their present and future goals.

Outside of work, Mia loves to spend time with family and friends. She is the proud mother of two daughters, Jayda (8) and Laila (6). She also serves her community through the following organizations: Bolder Options, Diversity Council, FAITH! Program, Girl Scouts and Youth Olympic Weight Lifting.
