Our open house was a full house

We were thrilled to cap off our renovation project with a party. Many of our friends, colleagues and clients joined us to celebrate our continued partnership and growth over the years. Thank you to all who attended for the wonderful afternoon.

Financial Advisor Andrew Frerking continues to lead and serve his community

Andrew has many clients and friends in the athletic community, including A.J. Artis, a strength coach for the Georgia Tech football team. Recently, A.J. invited Andrew to speak at an African American Performance Coaches Association gathering.

As an athlete, financial advisor and coach, Andrew was honored to speak about the world of finance from an insider’s perspective. In addition, he and the attendees had an informative and collaborative discussion about many of the issues facing athletes and coaches today.

Andrew and A.J. were also featured in Thrivent magazine. Check out the article.

AAPCA Conference 2025

On the road with Associate Financial Advisor John Cherry

John competed in his first fly fishing tournament, The Maiden Voyage, in Gatlinburg on Feb. 8. Here he is with his partner, braving the cold to bring home a prize.

When John’s not chasing fishing glory, he has been hosting his IPAs and IRAs event all over north Atlanta. In addition, he has been providing membership support and information for his local Lutheran church. Thank you, John, for continuing to champion Thrivent and our practice through community outreach.

Thrivent. Where Money Means More™

We are thrilled to introduce Thrivent’s refreshed brand, which reflects the heart of what we do—helping you plan your finances for the people, causes and communities you love.

Even though our brand has evolved, Thrivent’s commitment to serving you with purpose, care and expertise has not changed. You’ll see brand updates on our website, communications and materials throughout 2025. Plus, look for Thrivent commercials on national TV and connected TV services like YouTube TV. You may also see our ads on TV during pro and collegiate sports, such as the NFL draft and the Major League Baseball season opener.
